

BOROUGH WILL REBUILD 66-FT. STORM SEWER

Borough council at its September meeting in the fire engine house Tuesday night, authorized the laying of 66 feet of storm sewer across Elm avenue to replace a broken line linking with the Buford avenue storm sewer which empties into the Tiber, in an effort to relieve the flood conditions in front of the Glenn L. Bream garage after heavy rains.

Test holes put in by Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Wambrenner showed parts of the old line broken and blocked with roots. Councilman John D. Teeter said: "Fixing the pipe across Elm avenue is a must." Teeter declared Mr. Bream complained in a letter to council in August that water, unable to get through the receivers and pipe to the Tiber, backed up in front of his garage, and ran into the building.

To Rebuild Storm Sewer
The question of constructing a second, or relief drain, from this point to a point farther down the Tiber and the construction of an additional receiver were also discussed.

Council also voted to reconstruct a storm sewer on York street in the rear of the H. S. Cromer property, with concrete floor and sidewalks and pre-cast top Harry Jackson and Ivan Collins appeared before council to request repair of the sewer. The borough engineer reported that the sewer had been cleaned and a truckload of dirt and refuse removed but a new sewer was needed. A limit of $1,000 was placed on the cost.

After considerable discussion of recent pay raises granted borough highway department employees, council voted to offer Edgar Shelleman, foreman, an hourly wage rate of $1.12, cents instead of a straight salary of $225 a month, granted him in August.

Raise Sickles' Pay
Shelleman, according to Wambrenner, requested more money because he said laborers in the highway department were receiving more than his pay. He said Shelleman had threatened to "quit." Other highway employees now receive $1 an hour.

An increase from $2,160 to $2,600 a year was granted Eugene S. Sickles, health officer, fire marshal and custodian at the fire engine house. The increase brings his salary in line with recent raises granted borough police officers. Council also voted an increase to special police, from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

Glenn Straley and Elliot Staley appeared before council to protest. (Please turn to page 8)

SOUTH MT. FAIR OPENS TUESDAY; MANY EXHIBITS

Officials reported a good attendance at the opening of the South Mountain fair Tuesday night.

The flower exhibits, which it had been feared would be smaller in number than usual, because of the exceptionally dry weather, turned out to be much larger than last year — when all-time records were set for the number of flowers on display.

The fruit exhibit, with a larger number of exhibitors than usual, gave evidence of a superior type of fruit being produced this year. The quality of the apples, peaches, pears, plums and grapes was described as "the best in many, many years" by fair officers.

Farm crop displays were larger than in previous years with the new section for baled hay proving very popular and accounting for much of the increase in the number of articles exhibited.

The art display, which began three years ago, set new records Tuesday, when 140 articles were brought in for display, including 65 pictures. Included was a wood carving, a large number of decorated trays, a large quantity of ceramics and a number of decorated chairs. Patrons at the art show were requested to turn to page 8.

Rotary's Allenberry Benefit Draws 450

Approximately 450 motorists from Adams county, attended the showing of "What a Life," sponsored by the Gettysburg Rotary club Tuesday evening at the Allenberry Playhouse at Boiling Springs.

The original "Henry Aldrich" story, the play depicted the attempt of "Henry Aldrich" to sell everything he owned to raise $2 to take his girl to a dance. Multi-complications were caused when "Henry" was accused of cheating in a history examination and pilfering the instruments of the high school band.

Kenneth Rhoads, a Gettysburg college graduate, in the role of Henry Aldrich, turned in an excellent acting job to head the cast. Robert Gibbons, also well-known here, gave a fine performance as the principal of the high school.

The exact amount of profit made by the local Rotary club in sponsoring the play has not been determined pending final report on sales of tickets. The amount will be placed in the club's charity fund.

Two Charged With Reckless Driving

Ten-day notices have been sent by Justice of the Peace John H. Basehor to two Adams county motorists on one violation charges filed by borough police.

George H. Noel, New Oxford R. 1, and Milard Basehor, Jr., Littlestown, are both charged with reckless driving in Lincoln Square Saturday night.

For Sale: One Used Motorcycle, One-Way Street Signs and Typewriter Stand

The borough police department's motorcycle, which cost the borough $100 when it was purchased, second-hand from the National Park Service in June, 1950, and more than $100 later in repairs, is going to be sold along with the one-way street signs used briefly and removed last year.

Councilman Fred Hummelbach, chairman of the safety committee of the borough council, which negotiated the purchase of the motorcycle, asked authorization at Tuesday evening's council meeting to negotiate the sale, and the disposition of the street signs.

The committee has a customer who wants to buy the motorcycle, and council was informed, and Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Wambrenner said the borough can't be able to sell the street signs for what they cost, because of the scarcity of steel and demand for these signs from other boroughs.

Business William G. Weaver said the police department also has a typewriter stand no longer needed from the Marston building to the fire engine house, and the safety committee and the property committee were authorized to enter the second-hand business with it.

The police motorcycle has been used this year. It was stored for a time at the engine house, and is now at the borough garage.

Greatest Tax Collector

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR
Because of the deep depression prevailing here in Adams county, the nation's unparalleled tax collector and the continued demands of the Administration for additional tax payments, I am constrained to report observations to the Taxpayers' Way of Life committee, a permanent body to study and report on the tax situation.

The overall picture is that approximately 256 billion dollars, and carries an annual interest charge of 4.5 percent, and seven billion. Fear of a tax increase is a constant theme in the minds of the taxpayers. The tax situation is a constant theme in the minds of the taxpayers.

In fact, it is not by the amount of taxes collected, but by the amount of taxes collected, that the tax situation is a constant theme in the minds of the taxpayers.

No less a personage than Senator Tom Connally of Texas, a consistent 100 percent supporter of the administration's fiscal program in the past, has at last come to the point of the ways. The Texas state tax (Continued on Page 4)

Lee Hartman Fails To Pay Filing Fee

Lee M. Hartman, Hanover, will not be a candidate for the thirty-day of the November election, it was learned today.

However, candidates for the next election must pay a $25 filing fee. Hartman failed to pay the fee, and his name is not on the ballot.

As a result of Hartman's defeat, the township clerk, Wayne K. Shultz, the Republican incumbent, will appear in the election.

Cease-Fire Communications Stop; Yanks Are Locked In Bitter Battles For Ridges

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 3 (P)—U. S. Second Division infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in east Korea today. They were locked in bitter battles for three other ridges.

Second Division troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill north of Yangju. Then they pressed forward to capture another ridge, and a third. The North Reds dug heavily into the ridges and checked the American drive.

Reds Balk Attacks
In the same sector, the Second Division soldiers were locked in a heavy day-long battle with Communists atop two more ridges. The Americans have been trying to attack the Reds off these ridges for a week. The Communists have withdrawn many infantry regiments and a heavy artillery bombardment.

The Second Division, a part of the center of a limited United Nations offensive was the only significant engagement on the front Wednesday. Yangju, at the eastern end of Hwasong reservoir, is seven miles north of the 38th parallel. Cease-fire would not permit correspondents to go how much farther north the battle line is.

To the east of the Second Division, entrenched Reds stopped South Korean marines trying to push out west of the prison boat. Other South Korean marines patrolled far north of the boat, roughly 20 miles north of the parallel and 20 miles from the east coast.

Heavy Red Losses
North Korean Reds attacked three points on a 10-mile line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some part of the ridgeline.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through U. N. lines.

U. N. troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the U. N. ground commander reported today. Mostly on the eastern front.

Truman Challenges Reds To Make Good Talks Of Peace; Opens Japanese Treaty Meet

San Francisco, Sept. 3 (P)—The United States and Britain faced an immediate showdown with Russia today over control of the Japanese Treaty Conference after President Truman challenged the Soviets to make good on their talk of peace by signing the treaty.

The Kremlin's chief delegate, unsmiling Andrei Gromyko, gruffly heard the President's challenge at the conference opening last night.

The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace, Mr. Truman said emphatically. "It offers a way for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace and who seeks to prevent it, who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it."

Red Is Silent
Gromyko, who had joined briefly in the opening applause of the first session, said nothing when Mr. Truman rose to speak and was followed by the American delegation.

But the sections of his speech in which the President placed his nearest emphasis, speaking slowly and in a loud voice, were those dealing with present world dangers and (Continued on Page 5)

Greatest Tax Collector

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR

Because of the deep concern prevailing here in Congress (this is written from Washington) over the nation's unparalleled tax burden, and the continued demands of the Administration for additional billions, I am constrained to send these observations to The Times in the hope that they will help its readers, all of whom are taxpayers, to more fully appreciate their own and their country's precarious and dangerous fiscal situation.

That the present national administration is the greatest tax collector this country has ever had the following figures conclusively prove:

Federal Tax Collections
From 1789 to June 30, 1945,	156 years
From May 1, 1945, to June 30, 1951,	6-1/6 years
	260,417,309,430

In other words, in a little over six years the present administration collected in taxes from the American people over twelve billion (not million) dollars more than all of its predecessors collected in 156 years. As the American taxpayer knows,

Lee Hartman Fails To Pay Filing Fee

Lee M. Hartman, Hanover street, will not be a candidate for prothonotary at the November election, it was indicated today.

Hartman, who held the prothonotaryship prior to entering the armed forces during World War II, was nominated by written-in votes for the Democratic nomination at the July primary.

However candidates so nominated must pay a $25 filing fee if their names are to appear on the ballot. The final day for presenting the filing fee was Tuesday. Hartman failed to post the amount and his name will not be on the ballot.

As a result of Hartman's decision only one name, that of Prothonotary Wayne K. Shields, the Republican nominee, will appear for the office.

Cease-Fire Communications Stop; Yanks Are Locked In Bitter Battles For Ridges

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 5 (AP)—U. S. Second Division infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in east Korea today. They were locked in bitter battles for three other heights.

Second Division troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill north of Yanggu. Then they pressed forward to assault another height just to the north. Reds, dug securely into crags and ridges, checked the American drive.

Reds Balk Attacks
In the same sector other Second Division soldiers were locked in a heavy day-long fight with Communists atop two towering crests. The Americans have been trying to knock the Reds off these crests for a week. The Communists have withstood daily infantry assaults and continuous artillery bombardment.

The Second Division action, in the center of a limited United Nations offensive, was the only significant engagement on the front Wednesday. Yanggu, at the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, is seven miles north of the 38th parallel. Censors would not permit correspondents to say how much farther north the battle line is.

To the east of the Second Division, entrenched Reds stopped South Korean marines trying to push out west of the punch bowl. Other South Korean marines patrolled far north of the bowl, roughly 20 miles north of the parallel and 20 miles from the east coast.

Heavy Red Losses
North Korean Reds attacked three points on a ridge line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some part of the ridgeline.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through U. N. lines.

U. N. troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red division last month, the U. N. ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

Truman Challenges Reds To Make Good Talks Of Peace; Opens Japanese Treaty Meet

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—The United States and Britain faced an immediate showdown with Russia today over control of the Japanese Treaty Conference after President Truman challenged the Soviets to make good on their talk of peace by signing the treaty.

The Kremlin's chief delegate, smiling Andrei Gromyko, grimly made the President's challenge at the conference opening last night. "The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace," Mr. Truman said emphatically. "It offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it."

Red Is Silent
Gromyko, who had joined briefly in the swelling applause of the historic assemblage when Mr. Truman rose to speak, sat with folded hands throughout the talk. Later he told reporters he had no comment.

Still later at an American reception for all the delegates, the Soviet deputy foreign minister shook hands with the American President and spoke briefly with some of the diplomats present.

To one of these, Kenneth Younger of Britain, he expressed the belief that the conference will last a month. "After all," he told Younger, "time isn't the most important thing."

Under British and American plans the conference should end Saturday with the signing of the treaty by all but a few of the 52 delegations present. Privately members of both delegations say Russian tactics may force it to run over into next week.

Publicly Gromyko has said nothing since arriving, but today the hour was at hand for him to speak up and presumably indicate for the first time his strategy—whether to try to wreck or merely protest the British-American sponsored treaty.

To Vote On Rules
Today's task was to organize the conference and set by majority vote—the rules which will govern its discussions.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, temporary president of the session as chief delegate of the host country, was due to be elected permanent president and Ambassador Percy C. Spender of Australia to be named vice president.

LICENSE SUSPENDED

Harrisburg, Sept. 5 (AP)—The State Liquor Control board today suspended the following licenses effective September 27 for the reasons cited: Leroy C. and Mary I. Weyant, Grant H. and Ethel S. Williamson, Lee-Meade inn, Gettysburg R. 2, 25 days; permitted minors to frequent, and sale to minors.

Comments MacArthur

For the remaking of Japan he paid tribute to the "outstanding leadership" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted as occupation and Far Eastern commander last April over Korean issues, and to MacArthur's successor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Both names were greeted with loud applause.

But the sections of his speech on which the President placed his heaviest emphasis, speaking slowly and in a loud voice, were those dealing with present world dangers and

Stories Of Major Leagues Told Softballers By Arch McDonald; Trophies Awarded

Interesting anecdotes on the lives of many major league baseball players were told to a small but appreciative audience by Arch McDonald, Washington sports announcer, at the annual banquet of the Gettysburg Softball league held Tuesday evening at the Moose home on York street.

McDonald spoke at length of many actual and fictional incidents concerning the careers of several stars and then conducted a question and answer period, with the questions being asked by those in the audience.

Judge W. C. Sheely presided as toastmaster. The invocation was given by the Rev. Clyde R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Glenn L. Bream, vice president of the Recreation association congratulated the league on its fine work during the past and tendered best wishes on behalf of the association for its continued success.

Bream's Get Trophies
Glenn Hankey, manager of the team, received the league trophy emblematic of the league championship from Johnny Knox, president of the league. Knox also presented a permanent trophy to Hankey which was offered by the Gettysburg News and Sporting Goods Agency. During the past season the Bream team won both the regular season and play-off championships.

Among the players about whom Mr. McDonald told stories were "Bobo" Newsome, Joe Kuehl, Walter Johnson, whom he characterized as the greatest of pitchers about whom no one was ever heard to pass a slur and remark and who never questioned an umpire's decision, and Billy Evans, a former umpire.

During the open forum the following answers were given by the guest speaker as his opinions on questions asked: Stan Musial, the most dangerous and best all around player in the major leagues today; George Kell, most dangerous batter in the American league; Rudy York, now drilling with Cleveland, a good gambler as a hitter for the Indians if he is signed for the stretch drive; leading American league first-year rookies, "Minnie" Minoso, Gil McDougal; National league, Spencer and Jordan; Dom DiMaggio, best fielding outfielder in the majors; and Bob Feller, baseball's best individual drawing card today.

Mr. McDonald said he did not believe the Pacific Coast league would be elevated to major league status because of the inadequacy of its parks to handle crowds needed to meet expenses, pointing out that the average parks on the coast are for about 15,000 persons. He also pointed out the long distances needed for other teams to travel to the coast and consequent additional expenses.

In the opinion of Mr. McDonald, television will prove to be an aid, rather than a deterrent, to attendances at ball games.

He favors the New York Yankees to capture the 1951 American league title, basing his selection on the ability of the Yankees to come through when the pressure is on. He stated he has no idea of who baseball's new commissioner will be.

THIEF GIVEN TERM IN JAIL

Allen Thomas Zurawski, Red River, Mo., a carnival worker, was sentenced to three months in the Maryland house of correction by Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan, of Emmitsburg, Tuesday night, on a larceny charge for the theft of two clocks, valued at $12, from a stand at the Emmitsburg Old Home Week carnival.

Zurawski was arrested in the square at Emmitsburg Monday afternoon by State Trooper Kenneth Bond and Police Chief Robert L. Koontz. Koontz said the man told them he was trying to hitch-hike a ride to Baltimore. The theft was discovered when Zurawski attempted to sell the clocks. Both were recovered. He had been in the employ of the carnival company about a week.

Zurawski was confined in the Frederick county jail at Frederick after his arrest until the hearing, at which he was found guilty Tuesday night, and was returned to Frederick after the hearing.

WORKMEN HURT
James Howell, 43, Emmitsburg, suffered a fractured collarbone Tuesday morning when struck by a falling rock at the Beard Lot project at Pountandale. He was admitted as a patient at the Waynesboro hospital. Another workman, Lew Keener, 18, of Waynesboro, suffered a severed artery of the left wrist Tuesday morning when he fell on a sharp rock. He was treated at the Waynesboro hospital.

STORE RANSACKED
State police of the Gettysburg substation said today that a store operated by Charles Norris, on the old Lincoln highway at the foot of Mt. Newman, was entered late Tuesday night or early this morning. A window sash was removed and the place ransacked, but police said nothing was taken, so far as could be learned now.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—If the Cleveland Indians win the American league pennant (and the prospects don't look too bright now) you can give a large chunk of credit to Robert William Andrew Feller. The guy has been criticized for his many out-of-baseball interests, because he likes money (who doesn't?) and for his occasional failures. But when his record is all wrapped up, we think Bob will be regarded as one of the really great pitchers of all baseball. He started out in 1936 as a kid with no minor league experience and nothing but a fine physique and a blazing fast ball.

At the peak of his career, when he had led the American league in victories and strikeouts for three years in a row, he went into the navy and stayed for more than three seasons. He regained his form for a couple of seasons, then apparently lost it. So this year, relying on guile instead of sheer speed, Bob has won 21 games so far, pitched the third no-hitter of his career and, generally speaking, made up for a lot of his club's deficiencies.

About the only thing Bob never has done was to win a World Series game. He deserves another chance.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Look for more action soon in that fust over football players' scholastic records at William and Mary. But the athletic dept. won't be the target next time. The dope is that W&M won't go heavily for big-time intercollegiate games after current contracts expire. Holy Cross will reduce the price of reserved seats for football by two bits a ticket this season "because of the high cost of living." What's this story about Notre Dame switching to the split-T formation? As we recall, Frank Leahy said last spring it would be straight T with an occasional look at the old Notre Dame box.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—The "antizing task of comparing 51 beauties to pick a Miss America for 1951 begins tonight.

Introduced to the public in a Boardwalk parade yesterday before an estimated 150,000 spectators, the pretties rehearsed their best smiles and threw kisses although it didn't net any points towards the finals next Saturday night.

ALL STAR GAME AT LITTLESTOWN

The final game in a three-game series will be played when the "North" meets the "South" in an all star billing of the Pen-Mar baseball league, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the Littlestown Memorial field.

The Pennsylvanians, consisting of stars from McSherrystown, Fairfield, Littlestown and Cashtown, and the Marylanders, of players from Emmitsburg, Taneytown, Westminster Thurmont teams, promise to stage an exciting game on Thursday. In the first all star meet the "South" won, 5-1, and in the second game the "North" was victorious, 9-6. Thursday evening the Keystone boys will take batting practice at 6:30 p.m., and the boys from South of the Mason-Dixon will get the field at 7:15 p.m.

The Littlestown club was slated to meet the McSherrystown team in a rained out game on Tuesday evening, but the event was postponed for the second time due to wet grounds.

Detroit Lions Stage Upset Over Browns

Detroit, Sept. 5 (AP)—The old college try—that's what carried the young Detroit Lions to a 21-20 upset victory over the defending champion Cleveland Browns in a National Professional Football league exhibition game last night.

Cocher Buddy Parker of the Lions and his assistants agreed it was strictly "spirit" that brought the Lions from behind in Briggs stadium to score all 21 points in a six-minute third quarter scoring spree.

Until then the Browns, unbeaten in two games, had been unscathed this year and held a 13-0 lead. But after the Lions' spree the Browns didn't get back into actual contention until the very last second of play when they scored their final touchdown.

Alonzo Staggs Opens His 62nd Season

Selinsgrove, Pa., Sept. 5 (AP)—The dean of America's football coaches set up shop for his 62nd season today with a confidence that might be thought a bit reckless for his profession these days — "I'm looking forward with enthusiasm to a good year."

Spry and chipper, Amos Alonzo Staggs greeted newsmen and 35 candidates for the Susquehanna university team here. He assists his son, Amos Alonzo, Jr., the school's athletic director, during the grid season.

"I feel better than I have in a while 10 years," he said with a twinkle in his eye and a zest which belies his 89 years. "As a matter of fact," Staggs joked "I have been doing some road work so I can win sprints with the boys."

The famed coach arrived on Labor Day with his 76-year-old wife, Stella, from their Stockton, Calif., home. Their arrival restored for a fifth season the only father-mother-son coaching combination in America.

Sunbury, Pa., Sept. 5 (AP)—The status of the Eastern Professional Basketball league for the 1951-52 season is in doubt today amid reports that owners of five league entries are seeking to sell their franchises.

It has been reported that owners of the Lancaster, Reading, Williamsport, Pottsville and York teams are trying to sell. If buyers cannot be found before the early part of November, William D. Morgan of Hazleton, present president of the loop, thinks the circuit may be forced to suspend operations for the coming year.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 5 (AP)—The American Amateur Baseball association's national championship tournament got underway yesterday with scores of the opening games ranging from close to crushing.

Climaxed Field Fliers of Harrisburg, Pa., defeated the Bessemer, Ala., Central, 11 to 6. The Bronx Royals trimmed Zanesville, Ohio, also 11 to 6, and Springs Grove, Md., defeated Ole Olson 4 to 2.

YANKEES HOLD ADVANTAGES IN CLOSING WEEKS

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"We're home now and that's where we win."

That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American league pennant race that finds his Yanks in first place by four percentage points over the Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-dreaded Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 3-1 decision in 11 innings in the only game played in either league.

Advantage On Paper
Here's the picture at a glance:

Games to Play	W.	L.	Pct.	Behind Play
New York	82	48	.631	—
Cleveland	84	50	.627	24
Boston	77	51	.602	4 26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage over their two foes. The Bombers have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four games more to play than the Tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 26 in their friendly Fenway park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times, are to be respected. However old case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Lemon Loses Battle

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kiely, (4-3) rookie lefthander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the stadium.

Eddie Lopat (18-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's double header against Bill Wirtz (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Cleveland's Luke Easter.

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentionally passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifle armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky in right-field for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman fielded to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scrambled to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

The Indians threatened in their half, loading the bases with two out on a double by Harry Simpson, a walk, and felder's choice but pinch-hitter Paul Lehner fouled out to end the game.

SEDGMAN WINS NATIONAL CUP

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—

Frank Sedgman of Australia already has the men's cup stowed away in his locker and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., was expected to win her first women's title at the tender age of 16 as the national tennis championships went into their 12th and—was hoped—final program at the West Side club today. Sedgman, first forehand to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored an impressive and one-sided victory over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in yesterday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

That gave the 23-year-old Aussie all the American laurels that were open to him. He and his Davis cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the National doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament, and in the final contest on yesterday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly, the lass who laces into a tennis ball as though she meant to flatten it, faced Miss Fry and the consensus was that she had what it took to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament. She will not be 17 for another two weeks, whereas Helen Wills was close to 18 when she won her first title in 1923.

Miss Sandra Wolff, with a net 36, won top honors in the ladies nine-hole handicap golf tournament held Tuesday afternoon at the Gettysburg Country club.

Mrs. Donald Wickerham was second with a net 37 and Mrs. S. H. Reed and Mrs. Thomas Gliese tied for third with net 38½. Mrs. Daniel Wolff was awarded a surprise prize. Fifteen women participated with Mrs. Glenn L. Bream serving as hostess.

Next Tuesday the local ladies will be guests at the Hanover Country club.

the San Diego Union, reached the final yesterday by finishing off Doris Hart, the Wimbledon champion and tourney favorite 6-4, 6-4. She had won the first set the previous evening before rain forced an overnight suspension.

Too Young 59 Years Ago; Will Wed Now

Arminster, England, Sept. 5 (AP)—Fifty-nine years ago William Arnold asked Elizabeth Drew: "Will you marry me?"

At a wedding ceremony in the Methodist chapel here yesterday she finally said, "I will."

When William first popped the question in 1893 he was 21 and Elizabeth was 27.

You're too young for me," she said.

William married another woman and fathered nine children. Last year his wife died. Last May, at the age of 80, he asked Elizabeth again. And Elizabeth, now an 86-year-old spinster, accepted.

Mexico achieved its independence from Spain in 1810. The change was not effected until 1821.

PRESIDENT ALL BUT THROWS HAT INTO 1952 RING

By ERNEST VACCARO

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Truman appeared today to have hit the reelection campaign trail with a 1952 platform virtually written.

He did everything but formally announce his candidacy at a Democratic rally here where he called his opponents names ranging from "special privilege boys" to "economic fossils."

And he constructed his 1952 platform under the familiar "Fair Deal" banner as he predicted "we are going to elect a President next year."

It Was Pretty Clear

He didn't say it would be Harry S. Truman, but the way the Democrats stood up and cheered—and his own obvious relish of the applause—made things pretty clear to those around.

Mr. Truman headed for his home in the midwest after a couple of San Francisco speeches, in which the off-the-cuff political talk at a party luncheon created more excitement than his major foreign policy address opening the Japanese peace treaty conference last night.

The White House plane, the "Independence," was ready to take him to Jackson county, Mo., where he started on the road to the Presidency.

Like A Bomb-Shell

Senator Magnuson (D.-Wash.), who was among those cheering the President on at the luncheon speech, told a reporter, with obvious satisfaction: "I thought he threw his hat into the ring."

And that was what just about everybody else among the upwards of 750 others at the luncheon thought, too.

The President's campaign-like talk appeared to be as much of a bomb-shell to the party workers as his assertion that new weapons are being developed which would destroy civilization in the event of another all-out war.

Stir '48 Memories

"It is fantastic what can happen with the use of new weapons that are now under construction in this country. Not only the one which we all fear the most, but there are some weapons which are fantastic in their operation."

The President didn't disclose what weapons he had in mind, but he left no doubt about the weapons he will hurl against the Republicans in 1952.

Memories of his "give 'em hell" campaign of 1948 were stirred by the President's assertion: "The Democratic party has a duty to the country, and if I am not badly mistaken the Democratic party is going to keep right on carrying out that duty."

TEACHERS VOTE

York in connection with the district PSEA meeting.

Set Music Dates

Other resolutions adopted called for the teachers to join with state and federal authorities to aid in whatever fashion they can to fight subversive movements and called for the teachers to give full support to civil defense programs.

The music teachers of the county, meeting in a departmental session, set March 28 as the date for the annual county-wide band concert and April 25 as the date for the annual choral festival. Both will be held at Gettysburg college.

The teachers discussed the possibility of bringing specially talented groups, such as trios and quartets, from other schools throughout the state to the county music festivals to vary the program and give the youngsters of the county an idea of the work done in other schools. Plans were laid for a meeting September 18 at the Lincoln View Inn, east of Abbotstown, when new officers will be elected by the music teachers and further plans made for the music festivals.

Most Oppose New Law

Discussion by a panel of supervising principals at a meeting of special education teachers and school nurses indicated that a majority of the principals at least are in general opposed to a new state law which would permit children down to the age of four to attend school provided they can pass an examination.

Most of the speakers, L. V. Stock, Elmer M. Gruver, Wilbur L. Cassel, Charles C. Taylor, Paul E. King and George B. Inskip, were agreed that while four- or five-year-old students may be old enough intellectually to attend first grade they are usually not mature enough socially or physically to begin school.

E. Elizabeth Rutledge, county supervisor of special education, reported that in one school district, where the test was given to several hundred youngsters younger than the five-year-seven month starting age, only one in 15 obtained passing marks.

V. A. Martin Speaks

V. A. Martin, advisor for the Department of Public Instruction, outlined a new scoring procedure for area and state project contests of the Future Farmers of America at the departmental meeting of agricultural education teachers. Previous scoring methods were based on a student having but one project; the new scoring method is based on students having two or more projects. He also outlined plans for the annual NEPCO meeting at Harrisburg and an egg grading contest to be held in connection with that meeting October 2 for FFA members.

At the Gettysburg PSEA branch meeting Jean E. Biggs, Orttanna, teacher at the High Street school, was named secretary to succeed Miss Sophia Mucha, former home economics teacher who resigned this year.

Dr. Harry L. Kriner, president of Shippensburg State Teachers' college, and W. W. Eisenhart, Abbotstown, were speakers at the banquet session of the institute.

"Serve America First"

Doctor Kriner told the teachers: "Your task is to teach the youth of Adams county the fundamental patriotic concepts of our American government. You must teach the fundamentals of democracy in the red, white and blue fashion so that our youth will have the character to carry on to the future what our nation has been in the past. It is all right to be friendly to other nations, but that means nothing if we don't have a fundamental love for America. We must serve America first if we are to serve the world."

Among guests introduced at the dinner by Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh, other than teachers and those connected with the instructional force for the institute, were Judge and Mrs. W. C. Sheely, Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Fox, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Reilly and Dr. L. C. Keefeaver.

W. W. Eisenhart brought greetings from the retired teachers to the institute.

Reports Given

The members of the Mite society of St. James Lutheran church who served the meal to the 302 present at the church for the dinner were introduced. Mrs. William B. Conover, president of the society, responded for the group.

C. I. Raffensperger, treasurer for the 1950 institute, reported income of $3,978.84 and expenditures of $3,971.33 for that year. Lawrence Gulden, treasurer for the county PSEA, reported receipts of $699.03 and expenditures of $508.42 during the past year.

Gay H. Brown, former justice of the supreme court of New York state, told the group: "The fundamental failure of those who speak of distributing the wealth as in socialism is that they think of our economy as a poker game in which there is a certain amount of wealth between the players and nothing will be added or subtracted."

Fallacy Of Socialism

"But the fallacy of that lies in the fact that under our capitalist system of free enterprise there is not just so much wealth. It is possible for people to create wealth. Henry Ford is one of the best examples of this. His development of the auto-

PRESIDENT ALL BUT THROWS HAT INTO 1952 RING

By ERNEST VACCARO

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—President Truman appeared today to have but the reelection campaign trail with a 1952 platform virtually written.

He did everything but formally announce his candidacy at a Democratic rally here where he called his opponents names ranging from "special privilege boys" to "economic fossils."

And he constructed his 1952 platform under the familiar "Fair Deal" banner as he predicted "we are going to elect a President next year."

It was pretty clear he didn't say it would be Harry S. Truman, but the way the Democrats stood up and cheered—and his own obvious relish of the applause—made things pretty clear to those around.

Mr. Truman headed for his home in the midwest after a couple of San Francisco speeches, in which the off-the-cuff political talk at a party luncheon created more excitement than his major foreign policy address opening the Japanese peace treaty conference last night.

The White House plane, the "Independence," was ready to take him to Jackson County, Mo., where he started on the road to the Presidency.

Like a Bomb-Shell
Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.), who was among those cheering the President on at the luncheon speech, told a reporter, with obvious satisfaction, "I thought he threw his hat into the ring."

And that was what just about everybody else among the upwards of 500 others at the Incheon thought, too.

The President's campaign-like talk appeared to be as much of a bombshell to the party workers as his assertion that new weapons are being developed which would destroy civilization in the event of another all-out war.

Stories Of Major Leagues Told Softballers By Arch McDonald; Trophies Awarded

Interesting anecdotes on the lives of many major league baseball players were told to a small but appreciative audience by Arch McDonald, Washington sports announcer, at the annual banquet of the Gettysburg Softball league held Tuesday evening at the Moose home on York street.

McDonald spoke at length of many actual and fictional incidents concerning the careers of several stars and then conducted a question and answer period, with the questions being asked by those in the audience.

Judge W. C. Sheely presided as toastmaster. The invocation was given by the Rev. Clyde R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Glenn L. Bream, vice president of the Recreation association congratulated the league on its fine work during the past and tendered best wishes on behalf of the association for its continued success.

Bream's Get Trophies
Glenn Hankey, manager of the team, received the league trophy emblematic of the league championship from Johnny Knox, president of the league. Knox also presented a permanent trophy to Hankey which was offered by the Gettysburg News and Sporting Goods Agency. During the past season the Bream team won both the regular season and play-off championships.

Among the players about whom Mr. McDonald told stories were "Bobo" Newsome, Joe Kuhel, Walter Johnson, whom he characterized as the greatest of pitchers about whom no one was ever heard to pass a slur and remark and who never questioned an umpire's decision, and Billy Evans, a former umpire.

During the open quorum the following answers were given by the guest speaker as to his opinions on questions asked: Stan Musial, the most dangerous and best all around player in the major leagues today; George Kell, most dangerous batter in the American league; Rudy York, now drilling with Cleveland, a good gambler as a hitter for the Indians if he is signed for the stretch drive; leading American league first-year rookies, "Minnie" Mino, Gil McDougal; National league, Spencer and Jordan; Dom DiMaggio, best fielding outfielder in the majors; and Bob Feller, baseball's best individual drawing card today.

Mr. McDonald said he did not believe the Pacific Coast league would be elevated to major league status because of the inadequacy of its parks to handle crowds needed to meet expenses, pointing out that the average parks on the coast are for about 15,000 persons. He also pointed out the long distances needed for other teams to travel to the coast and consequent additional expenses.

In the opinion of Mr. McDonald, television will prove to be an aid, rather than a deterrent, to attendances at ball games.

He favors the New York Yankees to capture the 1951 American league title, basing his selection on the ability of the Yankees to come through when the pressure is on. He stated he has no idea of who baseball's new commissioner will be.

THIEF GIVEN TERM IN JAIL

Allen Thomas Zurawski, Red River, Mo., a carnival worker, was sentenced to three months in the Maryland house of correction by Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan, of Emmitsburg, Tuesday night, on a larceny charge for the theft of two clocks, valued at $12, from a stand at the Emmitsburg Old Home Week carnival.

Zurawski was arrested in the square at Emmitsburg Monday afternoon by State Trooper Kenneth Bond and Police Chief Robert L. Koonz. Koonz said the man told them he was trying to hitch-hike a ride to Baltimore. The theft was discovered when Zurawski attempted to sell the clocks. Both were recovered. He had been in the employ of the carnival company about a week.

Zurawski was confined in the Frederick county jail at Frederick after his arrest until the hearing, at which he was found guilty Tuesday night, and was returned to Frederick after the hearing.

He was admitted as a patient at the Waynesboro hospital. Another workman, Lew Keener, 18, of Waynesboro, suffered a severed artery of the left wrist Tuesday morning when he fell on a sharp rock. He was treated at the Waynesboro hospital.

Newman, was entered late Tuesday night or early this morning. A window sash was removed and the place ransacked, but police said nothing was taken, so far as could be learned now.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 5 (P)—If the Cleveland Indians win the American league pennant (and the prospects don't look too bright now) you can give a large hunk of credit to Robert William Andrew Feller. . . . The guy has been criticized for his many out-of-baseball interests, because he likes money (who doesn't?) and for his occasional failures. . . . But when his record is all wrapped up, we think Bob will be regarded as one of the really great pitchers of all baseball. . . . He started out in 1936 as a kid with no minor league experience and nothing but a fine physique and a blazing fast ball. . . . At the peak of his career, when he had led the American league in victories and strikeouts for three years in a row, he went into the navy and stayed for more than three seasons. . . . He regained his form for a couple of seasons, then apparently lost it. . . . So this year, relying on guile instead of sheer speed, Bob has won 21 games so far, pitched the third no-hitter of his career and, generally speaking, made up for a lot of his club's deficiencies. . . . About the only thing Bob never has done was to win a World Series game. He deserves another chance.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Look for more action soon in that fust over football players' scholastic records at William and Mary. But the athletic dept. won't be the target next time. . . . The hope is that W&M won't go heavily for big-time intersectional games after current contracts expire. . . . Holy Cross will reduce the price of reserved seats for football by two bits a ticket this season "because of the high cost of living." . . . What's this story about Notre Dame switching to the split-T formation? As we recall, Frank Leahy said last spring it would be straight T with an occasional look at the old Notre Dame box.

Detroit Lions Stage Upset Over Browns

Detroit, Sept. 5 (P)—The old college try—that's what carried the young Detroit Lions to a 21-20 upset victory over the defending champion Cleveland Browns in a National Professional Football league exhibition game last night.

Coach Buddy Parker of the Lions and his assistants agreed it was strictly "spirit" that brought the Lions from behind in Briggs stadium to score all 21 points in a six-minute third quarter scoring spree.

Until then the Browns, unbeaten in two games, had been unscored on this year and held a 13-0 lead. But after the Lions' spree the Browns didn't get back into actual contention until the very last second of play when they scored their final touchdown.

Alonso Stag Opens His 62nd Season

Selinsgrove, Pa., Sept. 5 (P)—The dean of America's football coaches set up shop for his 62nd season today with a confidence that might be thought a bit reckless for his profession these days — "I'm looking forward with enthusiasm to a good year."
Spry and chipper, Amos Alonso Stag greeted newsmen and 35 candidates for the Susquehanna university team here. He assists his son, Amos Alonso, Jr., the school's athletic director, during the grid season.

"I feel better than I have in the past 10 years," he said with a twinkle in his eye and a zest which belies his 69 years. "As a matter of fact," Stag joked "I have been doing some road work so I can win sprints with the boys."

The famed coach arrived on Labor Day with his 76-year-old wife, Stella, from their Stockton, Calif., home. Their arrival restored for a fifth season the only father-mother-son coaching combination in America.

Sunbury, Pa., Sept. 5 (P)—The status of the Eastern Professional Basketball league for the 1951-52 season is in doubt today amid reports that owners of five league entries are seeking to sell their franchises.

It has been reported that owners of the Lancaster, Reading, Williamsport, Pottsville and York teams are trying to sell. If buyers cannot be found before the early part of November, William D. Morgan of Hazleton, present president of the league, thinks the circuit may be forced to suspend operations for the coming year.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 5 (P)—The American Amateur Baseball association's national championship tourney got underway yesterday with scores of the opening games ranging from close to crushing.

Olmed Field Flies of Harrisburg, Pa., defeated the Bessemer, Ala., Central, 11 to 6. The Bronx Royals trimmed Zanesville, Ohio, also 11 to 6, and Springs Grove, Md., defeated Ole Olson 4 to 2.

YANKEES HOLD ADVANTAGES IN CLOSING WEEKS

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"We're home now and that's where we win."
That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American league pennant race that finds his Yanks in first place by four percentage points over the Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-dangerous Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 3-1 decision in 11 innings to the Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

Advantage On Paper

Here's the picture at a glance:

	Games	W. L. Pct. Behind
New York	82 48 .631	24
Cleveland	84 50 .627	20
Boston	77 51 .602	4 26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage over their two foes. The Bombers have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four games more to play than the Tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 26 in their friendly Fenway park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times, are to be respected. However old case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Lemon Loses Battle

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kieley, (4-3) rookie left-hander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the stadium.

Eddie Lopat (18-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's double header against Bill Wright (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Cleveland's Luke Easter.

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentionally passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifle armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky in right field for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman fled to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

The Indians threatened in their half, loading the bases with two out on a double by Harry Simpson, a walk, and felder's choice but pinch-hitter Paul Lehner fouled out to end the game.

SEDGMAN WINS NATIONAL CUP

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (P)—

Frank Sedgman of Australia already has the men's cup stowed away in his locker and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., was expected to win her first women's title at the tender age of 16 as the national tennis championships went into their 12th and—it was hoped—final program at the West Side club today. Sedgman, first foreigner to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored an impressive and one-sided victory over Vic Seixas, of Philadelphia, in yesterday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

That gave the 23-year-old Aussie ace all the American laurels that were open to him. He and his Davis cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the National doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament, and in the final contest on yesterday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly, the lass who laces into a tennis ball as though she meant to flatten it, faced Miss Fry and the consensus was that she had what it took to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament. She will not be 17 for another two weeks, whereas Helen Wills was close to 18 when she won her first title in 1923.

Too Young 59 Years Ago; Will Wed Now

Axminster, England, Sept. 5 (P)—Fifty-nine years ago William Arnold asked Elizabeth Drew: "Will you marry me?"

At a wedding ceremony in the Methodist chapel here yesterday she finally said, "I will."

When William first popped the question in 1893 he was 21 and Elizabeth was 27.

"You're too young for me," she said.

William married another woman and fathered nine children. Last year his wife died. Last May, at the age of 80, he asked Elizabeth again. And Elizabeth, now an 86-year-old spinster, accepted.

Dr. E. S. Breidenbaugh Dies Sunday
Dr. Edward Swoyer Breidenbaugh, 77, professor emeritus in chemistry at Gettysburg college, passed away in his home on Carlisle street, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The venerable teacher, who in 1924 rounded out fifty years as an instructor at the college, died following a brief illness.

Physicians, surgeons and chemists, scattered from one end of the country to the other, look back to the teachings of Doctor Breidenbaugh as the ground work for their present successes.

Rotarians Hold Annual Picnic: A baseball game featured the annual picnic of Gettysburg Rotarians and their ladies at Arden's Union park Monday afternoon. The game was won by a team captained by Edmund W. Thomas, defeating a team led by William C. Tyson, the score being 6-2. Postmaster Robert C. Miller umpired.

Basket luncheons were served. Motion pictures were taken by John D. Keith, president of the club.

Kiddies Picnic Draws Many to Marsh Creek Heights: On Tuesday the younger generation had its fling.

Several hundred of the youngsters cast all thoughts of classrooms from their minds and enjoyed the treat which the Lions club of town provided for them at the annual "Kiddies picnic" at Marsh Creek Heights.

Just to live up to the afternoon the boys' band from the Paradise Protectors was on hand to furnish music, having been invited as guests along with the other children at the portico as well as those of the Hoffman Orphanage, making from these two institutions alone about 200 fun-bent "kiddies."

Doug, Mary and Gloria Stop Here: A trio of famous movie personages spent an hour in Gettysburg Tuesday evening, while they are dinner at the Blue Parrot tea room.

They were Douglas Fairbanks, his equally famous wife, Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson and her husband, the Marquis de la Palaise.

The quartet, traveling in a high-powered automobile, driven by a colored chauffeur, left New York city after the funeral of Rudolph Valentino, which they attended Tuesday.

After dinner the two couples left for Pittsburgh.

Short Sessions Mark Opening of Borough Schools: School bells of Gettysburg on Wednesday recalled boys and girls from vacation pursuits. Only short sessions were held at local buildings, but starting Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, the regular work began.

At the new $100,000 high school building special opening exercises were held with Lloyd C. Keffer, supervising principal of Gettysburg public schools in charge.

Enrollment in the public schools has exceeded 1,000 for the first time in history.

The total enrollment of the high school is 375 - 121 freshmen, 88 sophomores, 95 juniors and 68 seniors.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INDESTRUCTIBLE NATURE
The more you look upon nature the more you are amazed at its everlasting qualities. The great tree falls after a hundred years or so of life and usefulness to all about it. Then it decays, and spreads its substance into the earth to intermingle with the other chemical ingredients which furnish further life to its immediate territory.

Individual misfortunes arise where there is death to insects and other living creatures, but largely to the stronger a prolonged life. But there is little group warring, like men did. The robins, or crows, or sparrows, or pigeons, do not get it into their heads that they should dominate all the earth and so therefore group together to emphasize their mastering power over all others. They were put into this world for a purpose - to live and let live so as to furnish a happy balance.

And what happiness you view every day in nature. There is little or no discrimination among the birds. Roving about in the woods this summer I kept track of a dozen varieties of birds, flowers, and trees, not to mention many contending smaller animals of the wild. There is harmony, beauty, and a selflessness about all nature that suggests peace, and a blending of all elements.

Listen - the wind. Listen - the song of the sparrow or wood thrush. Listen - the patter of the rain upon the earth, roof-tops, and gentle drops of shining water from the leaves of the trees. Listen - the call of the birds and squirrels, in their free world. How inspiring all this is and what instruction we can gain from it if we will have an open ear and an appreciative heart! Nature is forever renewing and rebuilding.

None of us is but a fraction as happy as we should be, with all of history and nature from which to draw hope and inspiration. You see, God is in it all, and wants us to hunt Him out and be at one with Him! There are no limits placed upon spiritual wealth, and it is all tree!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Looking Back."

CITY BEAUTY
The river's as blue as the sky.
And the ships ply up and down.
The great city stands near by
With its buildings, gray and brown.

The water is pure and sweet
And fit for the cup of glass.
But, some on the crowded street
With the rush of the traffic pass.

Oh, some there are who never turn
From the grind of wheel and gear
Or counter and desk to learn
There is so much beauty near.

Though 'tis only a step aside,
On the harsh, grim streets they stay.
Never glimpsing the river side
Or the shore where the children play.

The poorest of all are they.
With so much charm to share.
Who deep in the city stay,
With never an hour to spare.

With beauty that all may own
And loveliness so near by.
From the cold, grim streets of stone
They never once lift an eye.

praised Mrs. Birde Elder, Miss Alice Black, John McDowell and David Riddle.

Miss Stallsmith to Study Dancing: Miss Elizabeth Stallsmith, Gettysburg's premier solo dancer, left Thursday for New York city, where she will take a three month's course in New Wayburn's school for dancers.

She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Stallsmith and by Miss Martina Stallsmith, who will attend a high school in New York. Mrs. Stallsmith will remain with her daughter during the course.

Attend Funeral: Among those from Gettysburg who attended the funeral of Mrs. D. Emory Sheads, held from her late home on North State street Monday morning, were Mrs. Ida Darboraw, Miss Edw. Darboraw and Miss Annie Sheads, of Kansas City, Missouri.

"Hen" Bream Had to Change Plans: Hen Bream had planned to leave early Friday morning for Pittsburgh to see that everything was in readiness for the start of the football season in the high school here and then go on to Hazleton to see that that is not interrupted.

With Bream went for his coupe parked in front of the Sigma Chi fraternity house, he found the machine empty.

In the car of the day he departed for Hazleton.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS
Dr. E. S. Breidenbaugh Dies Sunday: Dr. Edward Swoyer Breidenbaugh, 77, professor emeritus in chemistry at Gettysburg college, passed away in his home on Carlisle street, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The venerable teacher, who in 1924 rounded out fifty years as an instructor at the college, died following a brief illness.

Physicians, surgeons and chemists, scattered from one end of the country to the other, look back to the teachings of Doctor Breidenbaugh as the ground work for their present successes.

Rotarians Hold Annual Picnic: A baseball game featured the annual picnic of Gettysburg Rotarians and their ladies at Arendtsville Union park Monday afternoon. The game was won by a team captained by Edmund W. Thomas, defeating a team led by William C. Tyson, the score being 6-2. Postmaster Robert C. Miller umpired.

Basket luncheons were served. Motion pictures were taken by John D. Keith, president of the club.

Kiddies Picnic Draws Many to Marsh Creek Heights: On Tuesday the younger generation had its fling.

Several hundred of the youngsters cast all thoughts of classrooms from their minds and enjoyed the treat which the Lions club of town provided for them at the annual "Kiddies picnic" at Marsh Creek Heights.

Just to live up to the afternoon the boys' band from the Paradise Protectors was on hand to furnish music, having been invited as guests along with the other children at the porticoes as well as those of the Hoffman Orphanage, making from these two institutions alone about 200 fun-bent "kiddies."

Doug, Mary and Gloria Stop Here: A trio of famous movie personages spent an hour in Gettysburg Tuesday evening, while they ate dinner at the Blue Parrot tea room.

They were Douglas Fairbanks, his equally famous wife, Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson and her husband, the Marquis de la Palaise.

The quartet, traveling in a high-powered automobile, driven by a colored chauffeur, left New York city after the funeral of Rudolph Valentino, which they attended Tuesday.

After dinner the two couples left for Pittsburgh.

Short Sessions Mark Opening of Borough Schools: School bells of Gettysburg on Wednesday recalled boys and girls from vacation pursuits. Only short sessions were held at local buildings, but starting Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, the regular work began.

At the new $100,000 high school building special opening exercises, were held with Lloyd C. Keefe, supervising principal of Gettysburg public schools, in charge.

Enrollment in the public schools has exceeded 1,000 for the first time in history.

The total enrollment of the high school is 373 — 127 freshmen, 83 sophomores, 95 juniors and 68 seniors.

Water Company Opens Office: With C. C. Bream, Sr., in charge, the Gettysburg Water company on Wednesday opened an office at 141 Baltimore street. All business will be handled at the office, including the payment of bills, the receiving of complaints and requests for extension or discontinuance of service.

Mr. Bream recently accepted the joint position of secretary-treasurer of the water company, succeeding Wimbirt Neely.

"Treasure Hunt" Is Feature of Tyson Party: A "treasure hunt," the first of its kind ever staged in Adams county, featured a party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tyson, Guernsey, in honor of Miss Elsie Triebel, of Peoria, Illinois, Tuesday evening.

The hunters, forty in number, and paired off four in each automobile, started from the Tyson home at 7 o'clock.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INDESTRUCTIBLE NATURE
The more you look upon nature the more you are amazed at its everlasting qualities. The great tree falls after a hundred years or so of life and usefulness to all about it. Then it decays, and spreads its substance into the earth to intermingle with the other chemical ingredients which furnish further life to its immediate territory.

Individual misfortunes arise where there is death to insects and other living creatures, but largely to the stronger a prolonged life. But there is little group warring, like men did. The robins, or crows, or sparrows, or pigeons, do not get it into their heads that they should dominate all the earth and so therefore group together to emphasize their mastering power over all others. They were put into this world for a purpose — to live and let live so as to furnish a happy balance.

And what happiness you view every day in nature. There is little or no discrimination among the birds. Roving about in the woods this summer I kept track of a dozen varieties of birds, flowers, and trees, not to mention many contended smaller animals of the wild. There is harmony, beauty, and a selflessness about all nature that suggests peace, and a blending of all elements.

Listen — the wind. Listen — the song of the sparrow or wood thrush. Listen — the patter of the rain upon the earth, roof-tops, and gentle drops of shining water from the leaves of the trees. Listen — the call of the birds and squirrels, in their free world. How inspiring all this is and what instruction we can gain from it if we will but have an open ear and an appreciative heart! Nature is forever renewing and rebuilding.

None of us is but a fraction as happy as we should be, with all of history and nature from which to draw hope and inspiration. You see, God is in it all, and wants us to hunt Him out and be at one with Him! There are no limits placed upon spiritual wealth, and it is all free!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Looking Back."

CITY BEAUTY

The river's as blue as the sky.
And the ships ply up and down,
The great city stands near by
With its buildings, gray and brown.
The water is pure and sweet
And fit for the cup or glass.
But, some there are who never turn
From the grind of wheel and gear
Or counter and desk to learn
There is so much beauty near.
Though 'tis only a step aside,
On the harsh, grim streets they stay,
Never glimpsing the river side
Or the shore where the children play.

Oh, some there are who never turn
From the grind of wheel and gear
Or counter and desk to learn
There is so much beauty near.
Though 'tis only a step aside,
On the harsh, grim streets they stay,
Never glimpsing the river side
Or the shore where the children play.

The poorest of all are they,
With so much charm to share,
Who deep in the city stay,
With never an hour to spare.
With beauty that all may own
And loveliness so near by,
From the cold, grim streets of stone
They never once lift an eye.

Miss Stallsmith to Study Dancing: Miss Elizabeth Stallsmith, Gettysburg's premier solo dancer, left Thursday for New York city, where she will take a three month's course in New Wayburn's school for dancers.

She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Stallsmith, and by Miss Martha Stallsmith, who will attend a high school in New York. Mrs. Stallsmith will remain with her daughter during the course.

Attend Funeral: Among those from out-of-town who attended the funeral of Mrs. D. Emory Sheads, held from her late home on North Stratton street Monday morning were Mrs. Ida Durboraw, Miss Estelle Durboraw and Miss Annie Sheads, of Kansas City, Missouri.

"Hen" Bream Had to Change Plans: "Hen" Bream had planned to leave early Friday morning for Phoenixville to see that everything was in readiness for the start of the football training season in the high school there and then go on to Hazleton to see—but that is not pertinent to the story.

When Bream went for his coupe, parked in front of the Sigma Chi fraternity house, he found the machine gone.

In the course of the day he decided to go by train—to Hazleton.

Greatest Tax Collector

other day called for substantial cuts in foreign economic aid. He said: "WE CAN'T GO ON FOREVER SUPPORTING THE WHOLE WORLD WITH MONEY SQUEEZED FROM THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER. THERE IS NO JUSTIFICATION FOR THE UNITED STATES TO EMBARK ON ENORMOUS ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS ALL OVER THE WORLD. WE SIMPLY CANNOT AFFORD IT AT THIS TIME EVEN IF IT WERE JUSTIFIED." He said further that the so-called Marshall plan is due to end in 1952, and that "it ought to end on schedule."

Little Known Abroad

With respect to the Marshall plan, notwithstanding the billions of American dollars disbursed by it abroad for economic rehabilitation, we learn from our nationally known columnist and radio news commentator, Fulton Lewis, Jr., now touring Europe, that not one Englishman in a hundred interviewed by him, knew about or ever heard of the Marshall plan. Doesn't seem like such a good plan after all for winning friends and influencing our allies!

The pending tax bill is the third demand by the administration in less than a year for an increase in taxes. The first two, the Revenue act, and the Excess Profits Tax act, of 1950, were together calculated to produce ten additional billion, enough to meet budget requirements; but now the administration is asking Congress for $8,500,000,000 more to cover a dual program—foreign military commitments, and the most extensive foreign welfare proposal the world has ever seen or heard of. It is this latter program that Connally and other administration stalwarts so severely criticize and want drastically curtailed.

Power To Destroy

It was the great Chief Justice, John Marshall, who declared that THE POWER TO TAX IS THE POWER TO DESTROY, and unless American taxpayers, through their elected representatives, take matters in their own hands and call a halt on this orgy of reckless spending we will, sooner or later, discover to our everlasting sorrow the truth of the Chief Justice's pronouncement.

Something not generally known or available to the general public is the procedure followed by the executive departments in compiling the budgets they submit to Congress. Permit me to cite one instance that may come as a surprise:

Louis Johnson, former secretary of defense, testifying before a Senate committee, stated that he was asked to include billions of dollars for foreign aid in the purely military budget. He refused and not long afterward was fired. In commenting on this request Mr. Johnson said: "The minute you begin to conceal in military budgets moneys that are not actually for military purposes the public can't know what is going on."

Hidden Appropriations
It had been suspected for a long time that this sort of thing was done every time a budget was made up, but never before was it known for a certainty. In all probability nothing wrong was seen in asking Secretary Johnson to hide some foreign aid funds in the military budget.

This for the reason that it is comparatively easy to get money from Congress for the military, while on the other hand it is hard to get as much as wanted for foreign aid. Therefore, the thing to do was to put the hard-to-get money in where it wouldn't be identified, and, after it had been appropriated, to spend it as desired. No one would ever know the difference anyway.

Not Above "Fraud"

In commenting on the foregoing editorially, the Chicago Tribune said:

"That such an immoral proposal could even be considered indicates certain conclusions which cannot fail to be of interest to taxpayers. The first is that the administration is willing to engage in a fraud upon the citizens. The second is that, since the appropriations asked for concerned handouts abroad, the administration, by attempting to conceal them, confessed that it could not justify them. If it could have justified them to the people there would have been no necessity for subterfuge. The only reason why the administration would resort to such deception is that it knows that the people are fed up with the constant diversion of their tax dollars into foreign hands."

While the above is a startling commentary on federal budget-making, the American taxpayer can derive some comfort from the fact that the pending tax bill is in the hands of their friend, the hard-working, able chairman of the Senate Finance committee, Hon. Walter F. George. It is the purpose of Chairman George to have his committee go through the proposed tax legislation with a fine tooth comb with a view to cutting to a minimum the appropriations demanded by the administration. Such cutting is expected to be particularly drastic with respect to the foreign welfare portion of the measure. The senator and his committee should be given every encouragement in their efforts to write some sense into this extravagant, reckless fiscal program, so why not write to Hon. Walter F. George, chairman, Finance committee, United States Senate, Washington, D. C., giving him your views on the subject.

Height Of Asininity
As a sort of postscript, permit me to quote the following from one of Congressman Carl Curtis' newsletters to his constituents. (Congressman Curtis is from Nebraska.) This is but one example of how millions and millions of American tax dollars are literally wasted by crackpot bureaucrats:

"Government publications, press releases, and other printed matter cost about $200,000,000 a year. Some of the more recent publications now available include 'Mist Netting for Birds in Japan,' 'Cuban Frog Leg Industry,' 'How to Control Vagrant Cats,' which supersedes an earlier publication, entitled, 'How to Make a Cat Trap,' 'The Sex Life of a Raccoon,' 'Bat-Proofing Buildings,' 'Interaction of Shape and Weight Genes in Watermelons,' 'Habits, Food, and Economic Status of the Bang-Tailed Pigeon,' 'Estimating Muskrat Populations by House Counts,' and 'Fish for Breakfast—Why Not?' Can you beat that for pure, unadulterated asininity?"

Street Names Are "Subject To Change"

Belgrade (P) — It's a little wonder that Yugoslavs these days hardly know what to call home. Back in prewar years, the better streets of the country's cities and villages were named for former kings. Then Germany's legions marched in. King Aleksander Boulevard became Adolf Hitler Strasse.

Then came war's end, Germany's defeat, liberation for Yugoslavia— with Soviet help. Down toppled the Adolf Hitler street corner signs. Up went those re-baptizing the streets to commemorate the glory of Stalin and his Red army marshals.

Then, in 1948, came the split between Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and the Russian-led Cominform. Once again, the sign painters had work to do. Slowly but surely, the names of streets honoring Stalin and the Russians are being renamed—back curiously enough, to the names they had before the war.

Pity the post office clerks and the cab drivers.

Fish Blood Typing To Test Migrations

Santa Barbara, Calif. (P)—Where do salmon wander after they swim into the sea from their spawning beds in river?

Where do sardines breed? What course do tuna follow in their ocean migrations?

Scientists at Santa Barbara college hope to obtain answers to these and other questions of interest to ocean fishermen by research into the blood types of fish. Dr. John E. Cushing recently launched the program. He and his aides are studying blood samples from salt water fish kept alive in a special aquarium on the campus.

He expects to find that fish have different types of blood, just as humans do, and that through knowledge of the various types man will be able to trace their paths through the sea. A fish's blood will act as an identification tag, identifying him no matter in what ocean he is found.

FORESEES LONG SENATE DEBATE ON JAP TREATY

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Texas) said today he foresees long, stormy debate before the Senate will ratify a peace treaty with Japan.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, told a reporter he believes there is "no question" that the Senate will approve the treaty ultimately.

A storm signal was raised by Senator Jenner (R-Ind.), who said he found a "threat to our security still hidden" in terms of the proposed peace treaty.

Assails Secrecy

In a statement yesterday, Jenner said secrecy surrounds the treaty itself and companion pacts proposed on one hand between the United States and Japan, and on the other between Japan and Nationalist China.

"How," he demanded, "can secrecy and double dealing help us?"

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Senate Democratic leader, announced he plans to press for ratification of the peace treaty before Congress adjourns on or about Oct. 1, if it is completed "in reasonable time."

This country is pushing, at the treaty conference now in progress at San Francisco, for signatures of the draft this week. Ratification by the U. S., among other nations, is before the treaty can become effective. House action is not needed; the Senate alone ratifies treaties.

Expect Long Fight

While predicting ultimate approval, Connally said he expects a long, vigorous fight from critics first. "If they want to filibuster against it," he said, "they can hold it up for a long time."

Connally, named officially as a member of the U. S. delegation, has stayed in Washington. An associate said the senator may fly to San Francisco in time for signing of the peace treaty, but Connally himself reserved announcement of his plans.

Jenner denounced failure to invite Nationalist China to the conference and declared Congress "must insist that free China be invited to this conference at once."

Meanwhile several Republicans criticized a portion of President Truman's speech to the peace conference last night in which he praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur—whom he had fired from his Far East commands. Mr. Truman spoke of "the pride that my countrymen and I feel" in the way Allied occupation of Japan was handled under "the outstanding leadership" of MacArthur and Gen. Matthew Ridgway, his successor.

Who's An Indian?

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP) — A Iowa cemetery refused burial to a soldier, killed in Korea, because he was not a member of the Caucasian race. He was an American Indian.

It's easier to explain the race from which the American Indians sprang than to answer what might seem a much simpler question: Who's an Indian?

Anthropologists agree Indians are of the Mongoloid race, which includes Chinese and Japanese, and that they came into North America from Siberia within the last 20,000 years.

Some Indians, like the Navahos and Apaches, are believed to have come here along the same route, over the Siberian straits and down through Alaska, as recently as 900 years ago.

Congress Was Foiled

But there is no general agreement on who is an Indian. Congress tackled the question several years ago and was supposed to give a final answer. It never did.

Even government agencies—like the Census Bureau, which gathers figures on population, and the Interior Department's Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), which handles Indian problems for the government—don't have the same definitions.

But isn't there some general agreement on who's an Indian, based on the amount of Indian blood in a man? For example: Is a man an Indian if he has one-half, one-quarter, or one-eighth Indian blood? No.

Indian tribes themselves don't agree on that, for one tribe may accept as a member a man with one-half Indian blood, another if it's one-quarter, another if it's one-eighth.

Have No Definition

The Census Bureau lists as an Indian anyone who says he is, provided he's accepted as an Indian in his community. But the BIA doesn't have a definition which designates a man an Indian according to blood alone.

Generally, the BIA judges a man to be an Indian if he has one-quarter or more Indian blood and—if he also has an interest in property held in trust by the federal government.

There are about 150 Indian reservations in this country, owned by the tribes which occupy them, but held in trust for them by the government. The government assumes responsibility for the Indians connected with the reservations.

The responsibility is carried out by BIA by providing education, medical care, welfare, and advice on tribal problems, like farming. The BIA spends about $70,000,000 a year on this.

One-quarter Blood

And that's where its definition comes in—a man is an Indian if he has one-quarter or more blood and if he has an interest in land held in trust by the government.

If he fits that definition, he's entitled to benefits from BIA. If he doesn't fit it, he's not entitled to them. For example:

A man with 50 per cent Indian blood, and a member of a tribe occupying a reservation, works in a Detroit auto factory. For some reason he has no interest in any land owned by the tribe, and held in trust by the government, or any profit derived from that land.

So far as BIA is concerned, since it has no responsibility for him, he is not an Indian.

But his brother, working beside him in the same Detroit auto plant, with 50 per cent Indian blood but with an interest in the land held in trust by the government, is considered an Indian by BIA.

There are about 300,000 Indians—according to BIA's definition—living on the 150 reservations, and another 100,000 living somewhere else. No one guesses how many people in this country have some Indian blood.

Truman

American steps to meet them, including new defense treaties in the Pacific.

He told the conference "unfortunately, today, the world is faced with new threats of aggression."

Cites World Law-Breaking
"Many of the countries represented here are now engaged in a hard fight to uphold the United Nations against international law-breaking."

At that point he departed from his prepared text and said: "There are thugs among nations just as there are among individuals." In this situation, Mr. Truman said, it is necessary for unarmed Japan to protect itself against aggression, and it has requested "to enter into a bilateral treaty (with the U.S.) for Japan's immediate security." That pact would provide for American forces in Japan after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Mr. Truman also held out frankly the prospect of Japanese rearmament in association "with the defense forces of other nations in the area." He added "The Japanese contribution, by itself, would not constitute an offensive threat."

Wants Peace in Korea

"At the present time," Mr. Truman said with heavy emphasis, "the Pacific area is gravely affected by outright aggression and by the threat of further armed attack."

He said that beyond making peace with Japan the most important step required toward general peace in the Pacific is the restoration of peace in Korea. Then he said it should be possible to settle other Pacific problems "which now threaten peace." He went on:

"The United States has made clear on many occasions its desire to explore with other governments at the proper time and in the proper forum, how this might be accomplished."

"There are many well established ways in which next steps can be explored, if there is a genuine desire for peace in all quarters."

Nation-Wide Television

"But these are not matters which can be dealt with in our present conference. We have come here to take a single step—but a step of utmost importance."

(This ruled out, so far as the United States is concerned, any compliance with possible Russian proposals to broaden the purposes of the meeting to include other Pacific problems such as Korea.)

"We believe this treaty will have the support of all those nations that honestly desire to reduce the tensions which now grip the world."

The President's speech inaugurated nationwide television.

Convicted Slayer's Wife Gets Annulment

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Emma Homeyer, 42, has been granted an annulment of her marriage to Charles E. Homeyer, under sentence of death in Pennsylvania for slaying one of his wives.

The annulment was granted yesterday by Superior Court Judge Henry M. Willis on the ground of moral turpitude. Mrs. Homeyer testified that her 54-year-old husband told her he never had been in jail.

Detective Sgt. Ray T. Hopkinson told the court that Homeyer said he had served two years in prison. Judge Willis said there was sufficient evidence to void the marriage, which took place in Las Vegas October 18, 1950.

In her complaint, Mrs. Homeyer said her husband had been married at least five times. Homeyer was arrested in Duarte, Calif., last February, and returned to Wyoming county, Pennsylvania, where he was convicted of the murder of Anna Snellman Homeyer, in 1949.

HOUSE GROUP AT WORK ON TAXES

Harrisburg, Sept. 5 (AP)—A special House committee is at the half-way mark today in its search for an answer to the state's tax troubles—but the doors are closed to an outsider asking what halfway means.

Speaker Herbert P. Sore, (R-Eli) a committee member, said the group "tentatively agreed" on a program to raise $70,000,000 in taxes but refused to specify what the plan is until it is given "first hand" to the House Republican caucus next week.

He did say, however, the plan involves a "revision in the commonwealth's present tax structure without increasing the rate of any specific tax."

"The revisions include closing loopholes in present taxes and broadening taxable bases in some respects," he added.

The $70,000,000 figure is just over half of the $138,000,000 the committee has estimated is needed to balance Gov. John S. Fine's budget for the next two years. The other $68,000,000, Sore said, will come from new taxes or boosts in the present revenues.

The committee meets today in an effort to close the $68,000,000 gap. Budget Secretary Edward B. Logan and a Justice Department official are scheduled for appearances.

WEEVILS INFEST DRY BEANS

At least eight known species of weevils attack beans, garden peas, lima beans, cowpeas, broad beans, velvet beans, and lentils in various parts of the United States. In fact, the common bean and pea species are so widely active that these two crops cannot be successfully grown in the south. Losses from ravages of these two insects are probably higher than authorities believe because few housewives do not lose at least small supplies of beans and peas every winter which are stored for food and seed purposes.

In this region bean weevils are more destructive than pea weevils because few gardeners and farmers store dry peas. Therefore, the information offered below pertains to the bean weevil, although most of the control measures are applicable for curbing the species that attacks peas.

Bean weevils are found in all parts of the world where beans are grown or consumed. Unlike the pea weevil, it can multiply in stored beans over winter as well as in the maturing beans in the field or garden. The first generation starts after bean pods are well formed with the female weevil attaching her tiny eggs against the green pod or placing them in pits she gnaws in the pod tissues or through cracks in the ripening pod later. Adults of the second generation emerge as early as mid-October from the stored beans. From 21 to 80 days are required for a brood to pass around the cycle, from egg to egg-laying weevils again, depending on storage room temperatures. As many as six broods in a single year have been observed in stored beans in the latitude of southern Maryland and northern Virginia.

The chief reason why this pest continues to exact so heavy a toll lies in the incredible theory that the weevil develops from the bean germ (embryo). It is amazing, but still obvious, that many growers still give credence to this ridiculous idea. After the female lays her egg on the pod or inside through a crack, the egg hatches in a few days into a minute grub that burrows at once into the bean, leaving an entrance hole so small that it can scarcely be detected without a strong magnifying glass. Inside the bean it feeds until fully grown, when it is easily seen in the stored bean as a grayish form beneath the thin bean skin.

Unless the first field-started brood of weevils is controlled when beans are stored, adults later emerging will likely continue to breed and multiply all winter in overlapping generations.

Among control measures are these seven important steps:

1. Plant only weevil-free seed.

MISS KEEFER IS WED SATURDAY

Miss Barbara Anne Keefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Keefer, South Queen street, Littlestown, became the bride of Charles W. Margolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Margolf, State College, on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Grace Lutheran church, State College. The couple was united in marriage by the Rev. Millard M. Douglass of McKeesport, pastor of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Edwerth Korte, State College. The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar banked with ferns, white flowers and candles, in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Robert A. English, Wayne, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Calvin C. Maitland, Washington, D. C., as bridesmaid. The bridegroom chose as his best man his brother, Paul M. Margolf, and the ushers were Robert A. English, brother-in-law of the bride; David G. Margolf, brother of the groom; Charles H. Smith, James E. Hess, Russell C. Marker and Don C. Meyer.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white gown of marquisette over satin, with a fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves and an off-the-shoulder neckline. Her fingertip veil fell from a lace Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, topped with white roses, from which fell a cascade of blue ribbon. Mrs. English wore a strapless gown of mauve colored frosted net over taffeta with a matching stole. Her short veil was caught by a band of mauve velvet. Mrs. Maitland wore a blue gown fashioned the same as that of the matron of honor, and a short veil. Both attendants carried bouquets of harmonizing fall and summer flowers.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Winfield D. Lippy, Littlestown, aunt of the bride, presented a half-hour organ recital. During the ceremony she played "O Perfect Love." A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, with many guests in attendance. The reception was held at the Delta Epsilon fraternity house with Mrs. Roger J. Keefer, Littlestown, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Willard M. Douglas, Mrs. Albert Casabona and the Misses Barbara G. Sprengle and Louise R. Conte, sorority sisters of the bride, acting as hostesses.

Mrs. Margolf was graduated from Penn State college where she was affiliated with the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She is now employed in the advertising department of the McKeesport Daily News, McKeesport. Mr. Margolf was also graduated from Penn State and is a member of the Delta Epsilon fraternity. He is now a second year law student at the University of Pittsburgh. The newlyweds left on a two week's motor trip through the New England states, and upon their return they will reside at 1122 McCleary street, McKeesport, Pa.

Bomber Crashes In Idaho; 7 Killed

Mountain Home, Idaho, Sept. 5 (AP)—A B-29 bomber crashed and exploded shortly after taking off last night, killing the seven men aboard. The plane crashed one-fourth mile from a runway at the Mountain Home air force base.

Base officials said all the victims were stationed at the air base. The plane was on a routine training flight.

Names were withheld pending notification of next of kin. The big bomber exploded on impact. Lt. W. D. Gannon, base public information officer, said the plane disintegrated, throwing wreckage for hundreds of yards over the sagebrush covered terrain adjacent to the military air transport service base.

All bodies were recovered after the fire which followed the crash was extinguished by air base fire trucks. A board of inquiry met immediately after the crash.

Lt. Gannon said the plane had been practicing takeoffs and landings. He said it fell to earth as it took off after completing a landing.

Harrisburg, Sept. 5 (AP)—A statewide drive has now pushed relief work employment to the highest point since World War II, the state Public Assistance department said today. A total of 113 projects is keeping 400 employables busy working out their relief grants.

"The availability of relief work employment for persons who cannot be self-supporting is valuable as a means of maintaining and increasing work habits and skills so that the chances for regular private employment are increased," said Secretary Eleanor G. Evans.

The bride presented a half-hour organ recital. During the ceremony she played "O Perfect Love." A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, with many guests in attendance. The reception was held at the Delta Epsilon fraternity house with Mrs. Roger J. Keefer, Littlestown, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Willard M. Douglas, Mrs. Albert Casabona and the Misses Barbara G. SPENDING TOPS TOWN REVENUE DURING AUGUST

Borough expenditures for the month of August totaled $13,458.99, against an income of $5,081.04, according to the monthly report of Borough Treasurer John H. Basehore, submitted to the borough council Monday night. Total expenditures of the borough to date are $71,305.62, the report showed. The balance in the treasury as of September 4 was $51,446.07.

A warning that borough expenses "are getting beyond the limit of the amount set up in the budget" was sounded by Councilman George D. March, chairman of the finance committee. "We have spent $71,000 already this year," he pointed out. "There are a lot of big bills here tonight to be paid."

Can Defer Street Work
Borough Engineer Winebrenner suggested that some street resurfacing could be postponed in the interests of saving money, where the gas company is digging up streets. No action was taken.

August receipts included $2,212.82 from parking meters, $635 from Mr. Basehore as justice of the peace; $25 from Justice of the Peace Robert Bell; $750 from Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder; $45.14 from fire insurance tax and $1,393.08 from Burgess William G. Weaver in fines and collections.

Collections reported by the burgess were: parking fines, $81; ten building permits, $68; 15 digging permits, $786; two theater assessments, $384.08; one guide license, $1; one taxi permit, $30; two fuel tax installations, $10, and six mowing bills, $33.

Police Submit Report
The police report for the month showed 13 accident investigations,

Seek Funds To Bury "Prisoner"

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 5 (AP)—Sheriff Joe L. Brogdon solicited downtown merchants today for donations toward "a nice funeral" for an Italian citizen who lived for 40 years in Madison county jail because he had no other home.

Mike Bertinotto, 72, a familiar figure in downtown Anderson for four decades, died of a heart attack yesterday.

He spoke broken English but he had a big grin and hundreds of friends. Few of them knew his last name or that he came to the United States from Milan as an interpreter in seven languages.

Bertinotto immigrated in his youth as an interpreter for railroads and later for the American Steel and Wire company. In Anderson, a mill accident in 1910 caused a head injury that affected his memory. He no longer could work and he couldn't enter a public institution because he wasn't a citizen. Authorities failed to locate any relatives.

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 66 additional casualties of the Korean war. A new list (No. 392) reported nine killed, 40 wounded, 12 injured and five missing in action.

and property damage in these accidents of $3,305; 26 arrests for code violations; six for disorderly conduct; 15 minor investigations; three military and six funeral escorts furnished; special services, 23; juvenile investigations, six; special requests for checks on property, four.

Three pocketbooks were reported lost and two recovered. There were four hit-run accidents reported and two of the hit-run drivers found, the report said.

Kansas Rivers Overflow Again

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 5 (AP)—Surging rivers overflowed anew in eastern Kansas today and threatened Kansas City industrial districts still recovering from last July's billion dollar flood disaster.

The rivers, fed by heavy rains, forced evacuation of farmers and some town areas.

In Kansas City, Kas., army engineers rushed bulldozers and other earth-moving equipment into the Argentine and Armourdale districts. Both of these heavily industrialized sections are still digging out of the great flood of midsummer.

Rising waters also were being watched with apprehension in the central industrial district of Kansas City, Mo.

Work continued around the clock in an effort to strengthen dikes along the Kansas river, the state's largest.

Federal officials have estimated damage in Missouri and Kansas from the July flood at $2,500,000,000. It has been called the nation's worst single disaster.

BOROUGH WILL

the ordinance of an alley extending from a new street south of West Middle street to Ridge avenue. They contended that Mrs. Abraham Staley still owns land included in rights of way furnished the borough by Russell Staley and Herbert G. Hamme. Ordaining the street and alley was tentatively approved in July. Council referred the matter to Borough Solicitor Eugene V. Bulleit.

Gives Mosquito Report

Julian N. Estep, manager of the Manufacturers Light and Heat company, told council drilling of test holes had been completed and old gas lines in several parts of town were being replaced. Numerous leaks were found, he said, and in the case of the west end, the old pipes were not large enough.

Council took no action on a request for a street light on Fourth street at the bridge, after Councilman Harry Koch reported that there were no houses or sidewalks at this point.

The mosquito elimination campaign will end next week, Councilman Fred Hummelbaugh reported. He said approximately $1,200 had been spent this summer. "Every breeding place in the town has been covered," he said. "We have received complaints that there are more mosquitoes now. I don't know where they are coming from. We can't go outside the borough to eliminate the breeding places."

Approve Smaller Sidewalks

Council granted permission to rent the borough sweeper and the paint machine to the high school to paint lines in the school's parking lot. The property committee was authorized to have the furnace at the fire engine house repaired. An amendment to the sidewalk ordinance was adopted which reduces the minimum width of sidewalks in residential sections of the borough from six feet to four feet.

A complaint that water from a sewer off of Baltimore street was running into the cellar of the Stall-smith property in the first block of York street was referred to the sewer committee. The burgess was directed to notify the owners of a vacant lot on Hay street to cut weeds and remove rubbish.

Councilman Samuel Weiser reported that Pinkney Hess had built a house at Fourth and Water streets and requested a street light and stop sign there. The request was referred to the utility committee.

Clean Street Decorations

Borough Engineer Winebrenner was authorized to have the flags used in street decorations dry cleaned and repaired, after he exhibited a sample of one cleaning job on a flag which he said was blown down July 4 and laid in the gutter on Lincoln Square. The cost for cleaning will be 35 cents per flag, he said.

The secretary was directed to send a notice to Ralph Buti, owner of property at Buford avenue and Reynolds street, to construct a sidewalk on the latter street and move a building which encroaches on borough property.

The fire company was granted permission to open a wall at the rear of the first floor of the engine house to allow the aerial truck to be moved back and make room in front of it for another piece of apparatus. The fire company was also authorized to sell the steel in the old lockup to Morris Gittlin at his price of $35. Gittlin will remove the steel. Burgess William G. Weaver reported.

Council also voted to send the Adams County library its $600 appropriation which was provided in the budget.

Seek Court Order On Copper Strike

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Federal attorneys promised to move "as fast as we can"—probably today—to seek a court order to end the copper strike for at least 80 days.

President Truman last night called for immediate court action. He acted in San Francisco, where he had gone for the opening of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Immediately after receiving a report from his Taft-Hartley act fact-finding board that the copper strike is "seriously harming our economy and the rearmament program," Mr. Truman directed Attorney General McGrath to seek an injunction against its continuance.

STRUCK BY CAR

Michael Harman, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harman, 135 North street, McSherrystown, suffered brushburns and bruises when struck by an automobile on Second street, McSherrystown, at 6 p.m. Saturday. McSherrystown Police Chief Manard Maserer said the driver of the car, Fred I. Bunty, New Oxford, stopped and took the child to the office of a physician for treatment.

minded to vote for their favorite articles in the show. A prize will be awarded Saturday to the article in the show given the most votes by the public.

Start Judging Today

Increases in the number of exhibitors were noted for all departments except needlework, which remained the same as last year. Judging of the thousands of exhibits began at 10 o'clock this morning.

In connecting with the PFA day events Richard C. Lighter reported that Henry Warner, Chambersburg, will be judge for the dairy and swine judging events; Arnold Luick will be in charge of the agronomy judging which will be carried out on a self-scoring scoreboard without a judge; Roy Heckelhuber, Arendtsville, will be judge for the poultry judging. Judges for the tractor driving event have previously been announced.

SEEK STEPPING STONE TO MOON

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—Scientists of 12 nations puzzled today how to build themselves a satellite and set it afloat 500 miles up in the air. They want to use it as a base from which man-driven rockets can take off for the moon.

The scientists are attending the second international congress of aeronautics. Yesterday they formed an international federation to set up the satellite.

Dr. Eugen Saenger of Germany, chairman of the congress, said it might take 20 years to make the astral body, but possibly it could be done in five. It all depends on how much cash the federation can raise, he said.

Saenger, who helped the Nazis develop the buzz bomb during World War II, said the satellite would be reached by conventional rocket from the earth.

"From it," he said, "we could study, among other things, the effect of cosmic rays on the human form—an important problem in space travel."

The U. S. government announced three years ago that its experts were working on such a man-made satellite.
